

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Gridiron Solons Gather in Gotham to Shift the Laws.

THREE SETS PROPOSED

Cochens Advocates Doing Away with All Distance Limitations and Giving Ball Alternately.

Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Feb. 2.—There will be no radical changes in the playing rules of college football for 1912. That much was admitted by one and all of the solons who have the fate of the game in their hands. They assembled in annual conference at the Holland House to-day to the joint committee of the intercollegiate and football associations, and took no pains to suppress their attitude when the first day's session had adjourned.

A great many changes were suggested. A number of them were exceptionally radical, and especially those dealing with the forward pass, the forward play and the kicking. But the radicals met with little encouragement. The great majority of the legislative body believed that the game could be improved only by better balancing the offense and defense of the present style of competition. The idea seems to obtain that the offense should be strengthened to meet the power of the defense.

Ed Cochens, of Wisconsin, proposes the most radical change ever advanced for the improvement of the great college sport. He advocates doing away with all distance limitations, each side to have, alternately, five chances at carrying the ball. After each fifth try the ball would go over to the opposing side. He believes this would prove conclusively the respective abilities of teams. The joint rules committee deliberated on three different sets of suggestions. The first included a gain of 3 yards in three downs, instead of 10, as at present, allowing the forward pass to cross the goal line and to cut out the center kick. The second suggestion was that the distance be kept as at present, except that within the 5-yard line the offensive team be required to make but 3 yards, instead of 10 yards, on the down. This also suggested the elimination of the on-side kick. The third proposition had as its basis the addition of one more down for the required gain of 10 yards—four downs in all—and also to allow the forward pass to be made over the goal line.

Warner Addresses Conference.

Glen Warner, head coach at Carleton; Foster Sanford, Yale coach, and Ed Cochens, of Wisconsin, addressed the joint rules committee, but the subjects of their remarks were not made public. Prior to the meeting a caucus of the leading lights of Yale, Princeton and Harvard was held. At the caucus an agreement was reached as to just what policies these three big schools would endorse. At the meeting Foster Sanford, of Princeton, and Carl Flanders, of Harvard, were the chief speakers. Yale, Addicks Kelly and Bill Edwards, Princeton, and Ed Cochens, Wisconsin. All the members of the rules committee were present except Thomas Staff, of Chicago, and Dr. H. L. Williams, of Minnesota. These men were ill and were represented by James Sheldon and William Morrison. The rest of the committee is composed of: Dwight Campbell, Yale; W. Beecham, Cornell; Leighton Paul, Princeton; Percy D. Houghton, Harvard; Dr. James A. Babbitt, Harvard; Dr. A. Dudley, Vanderbilt; Dr. W. C. Wood, West Point; E. K. Hall, Dartmouth; and Prof. C. W. Savage, Carnegie Technical, Princeton and Yale seem to have effected some sort of an alliance. The action of the Yale, Princeton and Harvard in regard to proposed football changes. Walter Camp and his confederates evidently figure that a premature exposure of Yale's policy might thwart their plans of this year. The attitude of the Eastern universities toward Yale is well known—it is to beat the Blue at any cost.

The rules committee will continue in session to-morrow. It is believed that the meeting will conclude some time early in the afternoon. The proposed changes have now been pretty thoroughly discussed. It but remains to draft and endorse the literature necessary to make them law.

Hero Jordan Is Silent.

No message has been received by Elbridge E. Jordan, president of the United States Trust Company, from his brother, Marcus Jordan, who broke into the hero class when he jumped overboard from the steamer Cleveland in the sea of Japan in an effort to save the life of a would-be suicide. Mrs. Jordan stated last night that she did not expect her brother-in-law to reach Washington for several months, in the absence of any word, taking it for granted that he would spend some time in California visiting his parents before returning here.
